

Effective Teaching is effective teaching no matter where it occurs!

From the overview of The Distance Learning Playbook by Douglas Fisher Rosalind Wiseman, Nancy Frey, John Hattie

Teachers, Administrators, Parents

We invite you to join the NFRC as we support each other through a discussion of our successes and frustrations with distance teaching and learning using The Distance Learning Playbook as our guide

The Distance Learning series includes separate books each with tools, insights, and supportive strategies for teachers, administrators, or parents and caregivers as they navigate through virtual environments.

These powerful guides include:

For teachers: A diversity of instructional approaches, including direct instruction, peer learning, and independent work that foster student self-regulation and move learning to deeper levels. *Special guidance for teachers of young children who are learning from a distance.

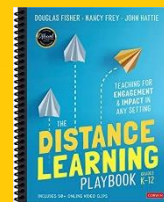

For School Leaders: *Actionable insights and hands-on steps for each module to help school leaders realize the evidence-based leadership practices that result in meaningful learning in a distance environment. *Analysis of the mindsets that empower leaders to manage change, rather than technology.

For Parents: *Suggestions for creating an environment conducive to learning, establishing routines, and most importantly, taking care of yourself and your child; * Maximize the time you spend supporting learning by focusing on what is proven to work best in education.

For All: Discussions of how to best take care of ourselves, our families, and our colleagues, improving school climate, equity challenges associated with distance learning, and so much more!

"The most valuable resource that all teachers have is each other. Without collaboration our growth is limited to our own perspectives"

--Robert John Meehan

Let's come together to inspire and motivate each other to meet the challenges we face with renewed vigor and enthusiasm!
